

Poly

Business phones, video conferencing, and headsets

Overview

Poly, now part of HP, makes desk phones, headsets, and video conferencing devices for offices and hybrid teams. Massive IT selects, deploys, and supports Poly devices integrated with platforms like Microsoft Teams and 3CX.

What we deploy and support

- Poly desk phones — business IP phones for offices and front desks
- Poly video bars and room systems — conference room video for Teams and other platforms
- Poly headsets — wired and wireless headsets for office and remote staff
- Device management — centralized provisioning and updates

When customers call us

- Meeting rooms with poor audio and video
- Mixed, unmanaged phones and headsets
- Hybrid meetings where remote attendees can't hear
- Phone system migrations that need new devices

How Massive IT works with Poly

Massive IT designs meeting room setups, provisions phones and devices, integrates them with the customer's calling and meeting platform, and supports them over time.

Poly fits organizations of all sizes moving to Teams, 3CX, or modern unified communications.
